DEBATERS AGAIN WIN ON COURT QUESTION

Women's Team Takes 3 To 2
Decision From West Virginia Co-eds

G. W. UPHOLDS NEGATIVE

Make Judges Believe Constitution Has Outgrown Its Usefulness; People
Are Sovereign

Victorious again! Such was the result of the decision of the judges in the debate between the women's teams of the University of West Virginia and George Washington University held Saturday evening in Corcoran Hall. The subject was the one that has been debated considerably this season, that the Constitution be so amended as to give the Congress power to override, by a two-thirds vote, decisions of the Supreme Court which declare acts of Congress unconstitutional.

Martha H. Beck, Mattie J. Sparks, and Wilhelmina Pownall contended against the adoption of this resolution, while Ruth Newburn, Vivian Simpson, and Denise Levy convinced the judges that the Constitution should be so amended.

Proud indeed may George Washington be of Miss Newburn. By her simple persuasive oratory and her convincing logic she proved that the Constitution had been outgrown by the progress of the times. The fundamental law of the nation must be more amenable to the expression of the will of its sovereign—the people—and that while the Supreme Court has served a useful purpose in the past it now hinders a full expression of the desires of the people it is designed to govern.

That the victory was not easily gained may be noted from the two-to-one vote of the judges, Dr. J. Stanley Durkee, president of Howard University; Miss Carla M. Smith, of Mount Holyoke College; and Irving M. Tullar, of Albion College.

The girls from West Virginia put forward strong arguments against the adoption of the resolution, but failed to carry their points. Miss Pownall was probably the most forceful of the visiting team.

This debate marks the fifth victory of the George Washington teams. Philip Barnard, the coach of the debaters, is to be congratulated upon the results he has obtained in the development of both the men's and women's teams. The victors of the Saturday evening contest will pit their forensic abilities against those of William and Mary College next Saturday evening in the halls of the latter university.

FOUR MEN HONORED BY PI DELTA EPSILON

Chapter To Give Dance Thursday In
Corcoran Hall; "Carolynians"
To Play

Four student journalists were last Saturday night rewarded for their service on the George Washington publications when they were initiated into active membership in Pi Delta Epsilon, the intercollegiate honorary journalistic fraternity, at a banquet held at Harvey's Restaurant.

Of the four initiates, Robert Albright, one of the associate editors of the Hatchet, has served on the staff of that publication for three successive years; Irvin McGrew, sports editor of the Hatchet, has rendered two years of service on the Hatchet staff, as well as being active in other fields of student endeavor; Allen C. Coe, another associate editor of the Hatchet, also served one year as copy editor; and Stanley Tracy is serving his third year on the Cherry Tree, this year in the capacity of Fraternities Editor.

Pi Delta Epsilon is also giving an informal subscription dance Thursday night, March 26, in Corcoran Hall. Music for the evening will be furnished by the Carolynians, and with several special features being planned by the committee in charge a most enjoyable evening is promised.

Lyle W. Ohlander, vice-president of the George Washington chapter, has been elected to represent the local chapter at the grand convention to be held at Syracuse University on April 2, 3, and 4.

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED

Being "Friends With Anybody," proved a big success Wednesday night. The name by which the club will be known henceforth is "The Comopolitans." All G. W. students are invited to become members. The second of these monthly meetings will begin with a cosmopolitan entertainment.

HISTORY CLUB HEARS OF RUSSIAN SITUATION

Former Warsaw Worker Reviews
Russian Problems At Club Meeting

Two excellent addresses featured the History Club program on Tuesday evening, March 17. Miss Jones, a member of the club, gave a sketch of the character of Sarah Jennings, Duchess of Marlboro, who vivacious personality and brilliant mind were marked influences on the political history of England in her time. The Duchess, an ancestor of the present Sir Winston Churchill, was for many years a favorite of Queen Anne, but was eventually supplanted by another favorite through a series of farcical intrigues.

Miss Kalet, formerly of Warsaw, and now connected with the United States Department of Labor, reviewed the recent history of Russia with reference to its effect on the life of the Russian people. She analyzed the development of the communistic idea from the time the peasant class, or serfs, were attached to the land and sold as the personal property of their landlords.

The first legislation along this line, the liberation of the serfs by the Czar Alexander, failed because the quantity of land given to each of them was too small to support life, and the people voluntarily returned to servitude.

Granting of the Duma was also characterized as unimportant and as often overestimated by the democratic nations of the world.

The next significant development cited, which also failed of its purpose, was the abdication of the Czar. This gave the communists, in whom had now crystallized the ferment of national unrest, colored by the filtration of western democratic and socialistic philosophy, their opportunity and they soon came to dominate the situation.

The Russian situation, on the whole, was declared to be fairly promising at the present time. The communists appear to be functioning with comparative smoothness through the committees in charge, who are selected by the people and may be removed upon complaint. The system of education was said to have been entirely reorganized along modern vocational lines, and elementary and secondary instruction is now free to all citizens. Higher education, however, is to be had free only by children of the poorer classes, who have been recommended for such training by reason of exceptional ability.

The favorable report of an English commission sent to investigate educational conditions in Russia was read. Even the food situation, always serious, was described as better today than it was two years ago.

ALCHEMISTS PLAN SPRING INITIATION AND SMOKER

Plans for a spring initiation and smoker were discussed at the business meeting of the Alchemists Thursday evening, March 19. It was also decided to hold meetings on the first Friday and the third Thursday evenings, instead of once a month, as heretofore.

The Alchemists are about to embark on a new policy, which will be concerned with the advancement of the Chemical Department of the University. The greater part of the year has been given over to the study and formulation of plans with a view to furthering the advancement of the organization and widening the scope of its usefulness.

Alchemist Heller spoke enthusiastically of the work already done by the society and painted a glowing picture of the future of the Chemical Department if the present plans are carried out.

SPEAKS TO FREE LANCERS

Father John Ryan, of Catholic University, in a speech before the George Washington Free Lance Club Thursday evening, discussed the attitude of the Roman church on labor problems as expressed by Pope Leo XIII.

Z. T. A. AGAIN WINS SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Presented At Annual Scholarship Luncheon of Pan-Hellenic Council Last Week

WON CUP LAST YEAR

Gamma Beta Pi Ranks Second While Sigma Kappa Takes Third Place In Scholastic Averages

Zeta Tau Alpha is the possessor of the intersorority scholarship cup for the second consecutive year. The announcement and award took place at the annual Pan-Hellenic luncheon held last Tuesday at Rauscher's, and was to the different sororities the highest point of interest among the many delightful features of the affair.

Mrs. Joshua Evans, trustee of the University; Dean Anna L. Rose; and Mrs. DeWitt C. Croissant, honor guest, spoke. Mrs. Evans' talk was on the subject of "Good Scholarship," while Mrs. Croissant's short address was full of the spirit of the Endowment Campaign. Dean Rose awarded the cup.

Because of the date, March 17, the luncheon took on much the aspect of a St. Patrick's Day celebration. Menus in green and white with the George Washington seal in green and gold on the cover, shamrock decorations, and food in appropriate color schemes made the general appearance of the table a real glimpse of old Erin.

Those present at the luncheon were the senior delegates to the Pan-Hellenic Council, the members of each sorority having the highest scholastic average, and the pledge having attained the same distinction. Each pledge made a short speech on different subjects of interest on the campus. A talk was made at this time by Marguerite Daly, president of Pan-Hellenic Council, who spoke on "Openmindedness."

Comparative sorority averages were: Zeta Tau Alpha, 89.22; Gamma Beta Pi (Local), 88.36; Sigma Kappa, 88.16; Pi Beta Phi, 87.98; Delta Zeta, 87.93; Phi Sigma (Local), 87.51; Alpha Delta Phi, 86.64; Phi Mu, 86.37; Kappa Delta, 86.19; and Chi Omega, 86.02. It is interesting to note that all averages are above 85, and so closely grouped that no one sorority stands out as markedly superior to the others. The general average of all fraternity women is 88.62, which is considered very unusual among such a large group.

The programs were devised so that the subject of each speech began with some letter of the words "George Washington," and so that the whole spelled the name of the University. The program follows:

"Good Scholarship," Mrs. Joshua Evans.
"Endowment," Mrs. DeWitt Croissant.
"Openmindedness," Marguerite Daly.
"Regulations," Alice Williams.
"Gossip," Dorothy Shore.
"Enthusiasm," Grace Atkins.
"Womanhood," Florence Shret.
"Attitudes," Julia Watkins.
"Student Activities," Helen Bahp.
"Home," Margaret Black.
"Idiosyncrasies," Rose Becker.
"Nonsense," Betty Bradford.
"Generosity," Unis Woodward.
"Truth," Alice Cooke.
"Our Patron Saint," Adele Allison.
"News Notes for Women Students," Dean Rose.

SEA SCOUTS ORGANIZE FOR SUMMER CRUISE

The Sea Scouts, a branch of land scouts, specializing, as the name implies, in navigation, have about completed the outfitting of one of their two Navy cutters preparatory to making their first cruise of the season. This organization of boys under the direction of a number of George Washington alumni have been engaged in their meetings in Corcoran Hall during the winter months in discussing sailing and marine problems preparatory to the actual cruising to be done this spring and summer.

The District government has donated a building at Water and I Streets S.W. to the Scouts, where they may keep their boats and at present are outfitting them. The work of this organization offers to those interested in it a practical knowledge of navigation. Those students of George Washington who care to take part in the endeavors of the Sea Scouts may communicate with E. P. Henderson at 1740 K Street N.W., or to the boathouse on Saturday afternoons.

ENOSINIANS ELECT

A business meeting of the Enosinians, honorary literary society, was held last Monday evening, March 16, in Lisner Hall, Miss Lyne Smith, Vice President, presiding. Alvin McNish was made the new President of the society, after which other business matters were disposed of. The next meeting of the Enosinians will be held on March 30, at which time several papers will be presented to the members for consideration.

FIRST FOOTBALL SMOKER DECLARED BIG SUCCESS

More Than 300 Men Out for First Meeting to Boost 1925
Grid Team

A series of boxing exhibitions featured the initial football smoker for the 1925 football eleven, held in the gymnasium last Wednesday night. More than 300 men were present, including most of this year's varsity team, as well as a large number of high school football stars.

Coach Crum expresses himself as being well pleased with the showing made at the gathering, which was designed primarily to arouse enthusiasm in the coming football season. With the prospect of a clean sweep of the fall schedule, the squad will hold spring workouts during part of April, and a large number of men are expected out for the early training. Another smoker will probably be held in the near future.

The fastest and best boxing exhibition of the evening was staged by "Dutch" Clements, and Leo Loeb, members of the football squad. The boys battled evenly for the first two minutes, but Loeb came back strong to take the second round from Clements on points. The third round was fast and furious, Clements carrying the fight and winning a draw decision from the audience.

Henry Lamar, Western High School football star, was introduced to the crowd by Coach Crum. Lamar holds the National Junior Light-heavyweight Championship, which title he gained in two matches, each time by clean knockouts in the second round.

"Battling" Nelson and "Reds" Johnny, lightweights, were the next to step on the rosin. Johnny, who was employed as assistant trainer for the G. W. football team during the past season, easily outpointed his opponent in a 4-round encounter.

The "Stepping-Kid," 4½ Street jazz hound, the last to hop into the ring, proceeded to strut his stuff to the amusement of the gathering, who showered pennies into the ring in appreciation of his work. He was accompanied by Joe Dignan, an alumnus of George Washington.

Smokes were provided during the entertainment, and ice cream and cake served at its close.

GIRLS MEET GALLAUDET AND PENN. UNIVERSITY

Women Basketeers to Play at Gallaudet Wednesday, and Meet Penn. Here Saturday

The girl's basketball team will meet the Gallaudet sextet at Gallaudet tomorrow night in what promises to be a fast court battle. The Hatchet six expects to regain the form displayed against the William and Mary team two weeks ago, and wipe away the 34 to 14 setback recently suffered at the hands of Swarthmore College.

Saturday night the Buff and Blue Girl's team will meet the fast University of Pennsylvania six in the G. W. U. gymnasium. This will be the closing game of the season, and the fair sex is seeking to imitate the successful ending to the men's season by a sweeping victory. Little is known of the strength of the visitors but they are expected to give the Buff and Blue team a hard battle for honors.

Many alumni and friends of the University are expected out for the Saturday night game.

EPISCOPAL CLUB TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Episcopal Club in Room 27, Corcoran Hall, Thursday night, March 26, at 8 o'clock. At that time essays will be presented on the subject "What College Course Has Most Affected My Religious Thinking." The best of these will be submitted in a contest conducted by the National Association of Episcopal Clubs.

G. W. CLUBS DECIDE INTERCLASS EVENTS

Class And Individual Trophies
To Be Awarded High Point
Winners

TO BE HELD ON APRIL 18

Duel Meet With C. U. Scheduled, But
Plans for Indoor Carnival
Dropped

Features of the annual interclass track and field meet to be held April 18 were worked out at a recent meeting of the G. W. Clubs, and several additional events were scheduled for this year's meet. The two-mile run and the discus throw have been added to the men's program, while the open and closed 50-yard dashes for men have been abandoned, as has the 60-yard dash for women.

The Lewis A. Fischer memorial trophy, which was won last year by the seniors, will go to the class scoring the highest number of points in the meet. Coach Thomas F. Probey will award an individual point trophy to the man scoring the highest number of points, but no individual trophy has yet been put up for women's events.

The half-mile interfraternity and the quarter-mile intersorority relays will again feature the meet. The fraternity event was won last year by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, while Chi Omega proved fleetest among the sororities in the 1924 meet.

Both open and closed events will be held, members of the varsity track team being barred from the closed ones.

Men's events will include both open and closed 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, and open 440, 880, mile and 2-mile events. Javelin hurl, shot put, discus throw, pole vault, broad jump, and high jump will feature the field events, and all will be open.

Women will compete in 50, 70 and 100-yard dashes, in the high jump, broad jump, and baseball throw.

Plans for the indoor carnival to be held March 27 in the gymnasium have been abandoned due to the narrowness of the board track. The duel meet pending with Catholic University has been closed and will be held at Brookland either May 8 or 9.

Captain Bill Simmons will take a team to the Penn relay games to be held in Philadelphia, April 24 and 25. A duel meet is scheduled with Juniata for May 2, while Gallaudet College will be met May 16, both to be held in Washington.

The track squad is working out every night in the gymnasium under the direction of Coach Probey, and expects to get outdoors in the near future. The interclass meet, however, will be the first real test of the team.

CUP AWARDS FEATURE OF ANNUAL GREEK CLASSIC

Unique Favors and Special Dances
Add to Success of Interfraternity Promenade

In the mirrored ballroom at Rauscher's to the strains of "Washington's Own" Le Paradis music, the fraternity men of the University held their annual prom last Friday night from 10 till 2. Unusual favors in the shape of tiny silver loving cups, a special dancing act during intermission, an unexpected "shuffle" from Lewie, of the Paradis orchestra, and the award of the cups in the different fields of interfraternity competition, were the features of the dance, making it one of the most enjoyable University affairs held this season.

The basketball cup, awarded after one of the hottest interfraternity competitions ever held in the University, went to Kappa Sigma. Sigma Phi Epsilon carried off the trophy for baseball, and Theta Delta Chi was announced to be in the lead in the bowling tourney now going on. This cup will be presented later.

Scholarship cups for social and professional fraternities were awarded to Phi Delta Phi and Acacia respectively. Phi Delta Phi law fraternity, attained the highest general average of any men's organization in the University.

The special dance in the intermission was by Miss Ballard to the strains of Ben Cain's famous banjo. Miss Ballard's costume closely resembled that of a feminine bell-boy, if such an anomaly exists.

THE AWARD SCHEDULE

Publication of the proposed activities award schedule of points in the Hatchet seems to have brought forth a flood of discussion from students of all classes as well as from faculty members.

To begin with, it was emphasized in the Hatchet last week and should be carefully borne in mind, that this schedule is only tentative and subject to change and revision as the Insignia Council sees fit, and as actual operation of the plan seems to demand.

The idea of an insignia award something of this nature for students participating in the various activities has been advanced by many of the student leaders during the past three or four years, and during that time it has at least been brought to the attention of faculty members. It cannot therefore be charged that the present schedule was adopted without due consideration and with a total disregard of some activities and an undue recognition of others.

The actual schedule was drawn up by a student committee, and a temporary insignia council composed of student representatives from the various honor societies, meeting with the committee of three faculty members appointed to consider the advisability of the plan, adopted the schedule as published with the exception of a few minor changes made by the Faculty Committee on Student Activities before finally adopting the report of the temporary faculty committee. When the newly authorized Insignia Council meets for the first time these same representatives, or other representatives of the same honor societies, will be in a position to revise or correct this schedule, or to take such action along this line as may be deemed most advisable.

The competency or impartiality of the council members cannot well be challenged. These representatives are members of the various honor societies—the societies as a group embracing every field of student activities—all have been leaders in one field and most of them have been leaders in several fields of student activities. They are as well qualified as any student body in school to pass upon the relative merits of each activity, and with champions of every activity on the council no activity will be neglected.

The idea behind this movement is an excellent one and has the support of both students and faculty. But it is a most difficult task to coordinate all activities under a point scale such as this in order that every student will feel satisfied. It cannot be fully accomplished until the plan has been put into actual operation and only through the fullest cooperation of all students can the undertaking prove successful.

EDUCATIONAL PUBLICITY

If there is anything which George Washington University needs it is advertising—not publicity of a notorious kind, but a clean, wholesome advertising which will place the institution before every section of the country in its true light.

Much has been accomplished during the last year or two in the way of providing publicity for the University, but probably nothing with more far-reaching possibilities has been undertaken during the past few months than the project recently adopted by the administration for providing instructive illustrated lectures for visiting groups from high schools through the East and Middle West sections who come to Washington each spring.

It has been estimated that each spring there are approximately 40,000 students from high schools and other secondary educational institutions who visit Washington. These students come here under the care of their instructors for purely educational purposes. But many of them come without a knowledge of the city, its institutions and its history which will enable them to profit most by their visit.

To assist in the general scheme of instruction the University officials have arranged a short illustrated lecture, with colored slides and moving-picture films, for the purpose of outlining to students the general plan of the city, its government, interesting characters and events in the life of the Capital, its historical development and points of historical interest, the working of the Federal Government, and educational institutions and advantages for education in the Nation's Capital.

These visiting groups will then be met at the station, transported in busses to Corcoran Hall, will learn not only about George Washington University but also the city of Washington, and will then proceed upon their sightseeing tours.

These same 40,000 students will return to their home towns, many of them planning to enter institutions of higher education, and all of them impressed with George Washington University.

The railroads leading into Washington are cooperating in the movement. Many high schools have written for information and are anxious to cooperate in any project which will make their visits more beneficial. In promoting such a project the University is bound to reap a fruitful harvest.

LEWIS DECLARES MANY UNFIT ATTEND COLLEGE

Thousands of students are attending college who ought not to be there, Dr. William Mather Lewis declared before a meeting of the Central High School Parent-Teacher Association last Tuesday night. "It is our job," he said, "to get the unfit out and the fit in."

"School men are thinking a good deal of the character problem in connection with our youth. I think that we have pushed too much of the task of character building onto our schools. The schools would be wise to pass it back to the home."

Dr. Lewis said that among the 5,000 students at George Washington there were none better than those that came from the Washington high schools. In showing the great increase in the percentage of the population seeking higher education Dr. Lewis pointed out that today 1 person in every 200 is a college student, whereas in 1890 the ratio was 1 to 1,000.

The fact that 20 percent of college students fall out after their first semester is the fault of the college, President Lewis said. "The colleges need to guide students more in the studies they should pursue. I predict that within 10 years the American elective system will give way a great deal to direction of studies instead of free choice, especially in the early years."

ARMY AIR CHIEF SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

Major General Patrick Tells Students Of Airplane's War-Time Value

The airplane as a necessary unit in modern warfare and as an economic factor of increasing importance, was the subject of the address given in chapel by Major General Mason M. Patrick, Chief of the Army Air Service, on Monday, March 16. Major General Patrick gave a very interesting and comprehensive survey of his subject in the short time allowed for the chapel period.

Particular stress was laid on the necessity of a larger air force for military purposes. According to Major General Patrick, the potentialities of aircraft are infinite. In the first place, the airplane can cover distance which no other facility for transportation can equal in the same time. In the second place, there is no adequate defense against a hostile plane except another plane.

"According to history," said Major General Patrick, "man has never gotten a new defense that the enemy was not helpless against, until it got the same thing." The talk on this subject was particularly interesting in view of the recent controversy over the efficiency of the air service.

Economically, the airplane is useful to almost every profession. Bankers, U. S. mail, business firms, and private citizens have found this fast mode of travel very useful. It is believed by those men most familiar with this comparatively new mode of transportation that it will soon be the most common, because of its vastly more efficient and swift results.

DIPLOMAT DIES IN TURKEY; WAS GRADUATE OF G. W.

Word has been received of the passing of Herbert Paul Middleton of the class of 1914 in Constantinople. Mr. Middleton was born in Kansas City in 1887 and received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering (with distinction) from George Washington University.

Following a brief employment as statistician in Philadelphia, he entered the service of the State Department in 1908. In 1916 he was transferred to the embassy at the Court of St. James where he afforded invaluable aid to both American citizens and the American Government. At the time of our entrance in the war he was offered a captaincy, but was not permitted to accept it, the State Department holding he could serve his country better at the London Embassy.

Two years later, Middleton perfected the details of the administration of the Special Disbursing Office in London, of which he was in charge. On January 1, 1922, he was transferred to the American Embassy in Paris, where he served until his death. He had gone on an official journey to Constantinople when he contracted pneumonia.

Mrs. Middleton, who was Miss Madeline Faulkner, of Warich, England, until her marriage in London in 1917, received word of the death of her husband while passing through Vienna on her way to Constantinople.

On Wednesday evening, March 18, Kappa Beta Pi Women's Legal Fraternity entertained at a "shack party" farewell for Grace Duncan, '22, who is going West to hang out her shingle as a lawyer.

The Oak Room of the Raleigh Hotel was the scene of the annual banquet of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity last Thursday at 8 o'clock, when the active chapter and its alumni gathered to celebrate the seventeenth anniversary of its founding. The banquet was presided over by Joseph Fehr. The guest of the evening was "Billy" Phillips, Grand Secretary of the Fraternity. Dean Van Vleck and Professor Arnold, of the Law School, both members of the Fraternity, were present and made impressive speeches.

Sunday, March 9, from 4 to 6, Miss Dorothy Manning entertained the members of Phi Sigma and their friends at a tea at her home, 4701 Fessenden street northwest.

Among the girls from George Washington University, who spent the week-end at Annapolis and attended the Naval Academy Hop Saturday were Misses Dorothy Patton, Grace Collier, Eleanor Haddock, Mary Temple Hill, and Mary Louise Semon.

Misses Irma Baulsair and Helen Walten motored to Philadelphia on Friday for the week-end. While there they were guests at a Chi Omega banquet given by the University of Pennsylvania Chapter.

On Wednesday evening, Gamma Eta Chapter of Delta-Tau Delta entertained at a banquet at the University Club, in honor of the ten new initiates. George Degnan, the toastmaster for the evening, spoke of the work of the newly organized Alumni Association. There were appropriate responses by Dean Dorden, Jim Davis, and Cliff Moore.

Monday, March 16, Phi Sigma Sorority entertained its pledges at a dinner, after which they went to the home of Gene Sanborn, 860 Venable street northwest, for their formal initiation.

Phi Sigma held the formal initiation of its pledges on Monday, March 1, at the City Club. The neophytes are: Bessie Abramson, Mary Sherman, Margaret Abramson and Gertrude Caplin. A formal banquet followed the ceremony.

Phi Lambda Kappa Medical Fraternity recently held a very pleasant social gathering at 3304 Georgia Avenue. At the same time, three men were pledged to the fraternity. These men are as follows: Arthur Markowitz, '26; Samuel Novogodsky, '27; and Joseph Steinberg, '27.

Dean Rose gave her semi-monthly tea for women on Wednesday, March 18, from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. Gamma Beta Pi Sorority assisted her. The various activities were represented. The girls' basketball schedule was a favorite topic due, no doubt, to the splendid record the team has made this year.

Dean Rose's charming spirit of hospitality made this tea even a greater success than her former ones. There were a number of faculty guests.

A Subscription Bridge Party, at which 130 people were present, was given by the Washington Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta at the Sigma Mu Chapter House on Thursday, March 19th. Punch and cake were served as refreshments.

CORRECTION

The names of Mary Gunnel, Virginia May, and Anne Dimon were erroneously reported in the last issue of the Hatchet as having been initiated into the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

We landed at Cherbourg, where they had a funny toy train to take us to Paris—no cow-catchers on the engine. Kitty's aunt met her on the tender and she said we must come and have tea some time at their home on the Rue de la Chat, in the Catier Latin. To Paris $3.00

Jack and I found a wonderful little cat pension hotel near Kitty's over on the left bank where they have the best milk and fish and mouse grille. Better'n' we ever had back in Murphy's Alley. And all for only $1.50

Today we got 18.60 francs for each of our $s, and tonight we're going to the original Folies, ole cat, and we're going in the promenoire for only—$0.25

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY SIX DEFEAT HATCHET CO-EDS.

Win 24 To 11 In Speedy Game; G. W. U. To End Season Saturday Night

The Hatchet sextet suffered their second setback in as many starts last Friday night, when they fell before the speedy combination from Temple University, of Philadelphia, losing 24 to 11. A good crowd watched the Buff and Blue girls outplayed by the northern team.

Miss Kohler was the star of the visiting six, and with nine field goals to her credit led their attack. Mildred Omwake, tall Hatchette center, and "Jimmy" Cate, her speedy side partner, kept G. W. U. in the running throughout the contest.

The Philadelphia university has the advantage of being a physical educational school, and has a brilliant team. Temple has had a very successful season, and the Buff and Blue team played excellent ball to keep the score down.

The visitors got the jump on the Hatchettes, but the G. W. six came back strong to hold the score at 4 to 2 for the first period. The visitors hit their stride in the second quarter, however, and were never headed, the score at the half standing 12 to 4 in their favor.

The Buff and Blue sextet plays Gallaudet at Gallaudet tomorrow. The girls will close their season with a game against Pennsylvania Saturday night on the home floor. A large crowd is expected for the closing contest, and the girls are endeavoring to end their season with a win.

DEPARTMENTS OF G. W. U. FORM BASEBALL LEAGUE

Engineers, Chemists, Pre-Meds, Columbian, and Others to Play for Championship

Baseball teams representing the different schools of the University will join a league to decide the championship of G. W. U. The league has the sanction of Dean Van Vleck, chairman of the Student Activities Council. A cup to be presented to the champions has already been ordered.

It is certain that the Engineers, Chemists, Pre-Meds and Columbian College will have teams on the field while efforts are being made to interest the Law and Medical Schools in organizing nines. Diamond three on the Monumental lot has been reserved and the Engineers and Chemists have been working out for several days. Columbian College and the Pre-Meds are to organize shortly and start practice.

Professor Johnson, Coach Crum and others will do the coaching for the various teams. Candidates for the teams should see Ernest Klein, manager of the league, or Adrian Busick or Francis Thomas, Engineers; William Dyke or Fred Farrell, Chemists; Louis Luib, Pre-Meds; Ivan Maytum or Stanley Clarke, Columbia College.

TENNIS MEN TO MEET

A meeting of all the candidates for the men's tennis team will be held Friday evening, March 27, at 7 o'clock in Room 15, Corcoran Hall. It is urged that all those who intend to try for the team be present at this time as several important matters will be discussed and plans for practice outlined. Dean Hugh Miller, Coach, will preside.

RIFLEMEN TIED WITH G. U. IN COLLEGIATE MATCHES

G. W. And Georgetown To Shoot Finals This Week; Both Shoot 1,933 Last Week

George Washington and Georgetown, by virtue of victories last week in the Middle States Intercollegiate Rifle League, go into the final match of the season tied for first place with a clean slate of six wins and no losses each.

A great deal of interest will center in the match between the two local institutions which will be fired this week. There is little to choose from between the teams, an examination of their scores in the league matches to date indicating that Georgetown has turned in a higher score than George Washington in three matches, while the Hatchettes have turned in higher scores in two matches, and both teams turned in the same total in the matches fired last week.

In the matches fired last week George Washington disposed of Lafayette with a score of 1,933 against 1,766; Georgetown, with 1,933, turned back Gettysburg with 1,874; Pittsburgh, with a score of 1,912; pushed Johns Hopkins further away from first place when the Baltimore rifleman were unable to do better than 1,864. After hanging on with the leaders for three weeks, the Hopkinsites have dropped three in a row.

St. John's at Annapolis continued to show steady improvement, turning in a total of 1,870 to defeat Carnegie with 1,840. The standing:

	Won	Lost
George Washington	6	0
Pittsburgh	4	2
Johns Hopkins	3	3
Gettysburg	2	4
St. John's	2	4
Lafayette	1	5
Carnegie	0	6

PICNIC TO CHERRYDALE PLANNED BY Y. W. C. A.

At a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. in Corcoran Hall last Friday, plans were made for a picnic to be held in Cherrydale on the Saturday after the Easter holidays.

Elsie Talbert and Ruth Williams were appointed as a committee for the nomination of new officers, the election of which will take place on Friday, April 3. At that time four delegates will be elected to go to the Y. W. C. A. Conference, held at Eaglesmere, Pa., from June 19 to 29.

At the meeting Friday plans were made for a sale of candy to take place some time in April.

Mrs. Beiz, of the Zoology Department of Columbian College, made a short talk on plans for a rummage sale, the proceeds of which are to go toward a professional scholarship for women in the Medical School. At the present time no such scholarship exists in George Washington.

PARIS PRIZE DRAWINGS IN ARCHITECT EXHIBIT

Several architect problems entered in the Paris Prize competitions for the years of 1923 and 1924 were exhibited from March 12 to 18 in the Architectural Building.

The Paris Prize is an annual competition for a $3,000 prize, and the winner is sent to Paris for two and a half years of study. The problems presented at the recent exhibit are the work of students at Atlier Hirus, New York City, and are now on a coast to coast tour, during the course of which they will be exhibited at all the larger architectural schools in the country. George Washington was one of the first places of exhibit.

The subjects of the problems were "A Transportation Center" and "A Presidential Residence." The transportation center and the two presidential residences had about 250 preliminary sketches and studies which blossomed into magnificently finished problems. Yet after all this labor these problems were not winners.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES AT CHAPEL EXERCISES

Following Major General Patrick's address on aircraft at the Monday Chapel, Lieutenant Corley McDarmont, an alumnus of George Washington and an officer in the Army Air Service, gave illustrated lectures on the subject, at the Wednesday and Friday assemblies.

At the Wednesday Chapel views were shown of the airplane bombing of battleships off the coast of Cape Hatteras. The films depicted the laying of a smoke screen completely hiding battleship maneuvers. Lieutenant McDarmont spoke of the fruitless attempts of the Interallied Air Councils to draw up international air regulations.

The third talk in the lecture series was given in Chapel Friday, when Lieutenant McDarmont displayed views of the Colorado Grand Canyon, Mt. Shasta, and Mt. Tassen. The films were made at great risk by Army airmen in collaboration with Fox and International News photographers.

THETA DELTS STILL LEAD IN BOWLING CONTESTS

Theta U. Bowls Highest Score Of Week And Takes Second Place

Theta Delta Chi still retains first place in the Interfraternity Bowling League, while Theta Upsilon Omega advanced to second place by bowling 1,401, the highest score of the week. This is 30 pins below the high score set by the Theta Deltas the week before, and with only one more game scheduled last year's champions bid well to repeat.

Sigma Phi Epsilon will bowl alone March 24 and round out the schedule. If they can get a score better than 1,431 they can take first place.

Wemple, of Theta Delta Chi, still has the highest individual score, 321.

Delta Tau Delta and Phi Sigma Kappa bowled March 17, and Theta Upsilon Omega and Kappa Alpha bowled March 18. The scores follow:

HAS ARTICLE PUBLISHED IN ECONOMICS JOURNAL

Assistant Professor Claude L. Benner, of the economics department, had published in the February issue of the Journal of Political Economy the first of a series of articles on credit conditions in 1920 and 1921 with respect to agriculture.

Professor Benner's article, "Credit Aspects of the Agricultural Depression, 1920-21," discusses the causes which led to the large amount of farm bank indebtedness, and cites (1) increased standard of living and increased taxation; (2) land speculation; (3) blue-sky stock investment; (4) increased costs of farm implements and farm wages; (5) tiding over the transportation tieup in the spring of 1920; and (6) decreased export of farm products to Europe, as such causes.

The article relates how at the time the indebtedness was at its highest falling prices of products made the farmers unwilling and unable to liquidate their loans.

DISCUSS IMMIGRATION AT MENORAH MEETING

Isadore Hershfield is the latest man of distinction to address the Menorah Society of George Washington. As an authority on immigration he discussed that problem before the Menorahites last Friday evening in Corcoran Hall. He dwelt principally on the causes and effects of Federal legislation regulating immigration and the influence upon the country resulting from the influx of Europeans and Asiatics.

In accordance with the policy of the society, Mr. Hershfield was made an honorary member of the organization. On Saturday, April 25, the Menorah Society will give a dance in the gymnasium to which all members of the University are invited.

At the next meeting of the society, April 12, Chancellor Hurowitz, of the Menorah Society headquarters in New York, will speak.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

The Political Science Club of George Washington University will hold its first regular meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in Room 25 of Corcoran Hall. At this meeting election of permanent officers will be held, after which will follow an informal discussion of current political events of general interest.

This organization is a new one to George Washington and confines its activities to politically scientific matters. Those students of the University seriously interested in such work are invited to attend this meeting.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO HOLD DANCE IN GYM FRIDAY

Several Special Features Planned To Add To Interest Of Annual Affair

The Men's Glee Club, which is enjoying the busiest and most prosperous season in its history, expects to exemplify its "pep" at the spring dance to be given in the gym Friday, March 27, from 9-until 12.30.

The dance is being given to provide club emblems for the members. Features which include "novelties," a few selections by the club, and refreshments, make the price of $1.50 seem relatively small. Music will be furnished by the Glee Club Jazz Band. Members of the Glee Club and Band report a good sale of tickets.

In conformity with its policy of giving at least one concert a week, the Glee Club held a vesper service last Sunday at the First Congregational Church. The song "George Washington," written by the pastor, Reverend Pierce, was well received, as was the sacred number, "I Am Alpha and Omega." This song contains a tenor solo to which Mr. Sontag's voice was well suited. Preston Haynes also contributed solos which were well received.

EPISCOPAL DELEGATES RETURN FROM MEETING

Secretary Of G. W. Club Elected
Vice-President At Baltimore;
To Meet Here Next Year

Episcopal students of George Washington University will entertain representatives from the fourteen colleges and universities in the dioceses of the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Eastern next year, according to an invitation extended by Sybil Mundy and Mildred Volandt, representatives of the G. W. Club, at the conference held in Baltimore on February 27th, 28th and March 1st.

The Baltimore meeting at which Johns Hopkins and Goucher College acted as host and hostess, was the first to be attended by representatives of the local body. After a dinner upon their arrival a delegate from each college spoke of the work accomplished by his school since the last convention. These talks were followed by an address from the clergy advisors.

After the informal talks a formal meeting was held. Bishop Murray, of Maryland, delivered an address of welcome in which he spoke of the necessity for physical, mental and spiritual development of the student. Canon de Vries, Chancellor of Washington, spoke on "Why the Student Needs Church and What the Episcopal Church Can Do." Dr. Gallagher, of Goucher, spoke on "Religion at College from the Secular Point of View." At the Saturday meeting, Dr. McComb, of Cambridge, Mass., spoke on the "Reasonableness of Religion."

After these meetings the convention divided into small groups to discuss personal religion in colleges. Elections were held, and reports of delegates took up the greater part of the last meeting. Mildred Volandt, recording secretary of the local club, was elected first vice-president.

The club is now considering ways and means to send a delegate to the conference to be held at Racine, Wis., in June.

COLUMBIAN DEBATERS ARGUE VOLSTEAD ACT

At the regular Friday evening meeting of the Columbian Debating Society held in Corcoran Hall March 20, R. Faulkner, Wroe Alderson, and J. Rosenthal contended "That the Congress Should Immediately Repeal the Volstead Act." They maintained their stand despite the forceful arguments put forward by C. K. Fierstone, Vincent Stubbs, and Pearl Wetmore against such a change.

At the meeting next Friday, to be held in Room 15 of Corcoran Hall, the beneficial results of the reading of any one of the popular magazines, to the university student will be argued.

ENGINEERS ADDRESSED ON COAST SURVEY WORK

"How the Coast Survey Works," was the topic of an address by Col. E. Lester Jones, before the Engineering Society, at their meeting Wednesday evening, March 18. Colonel Jones is famous for his ability to present in a non-technical language the most intricate and advanced scientific subjects. He displayed this ability to advantage in giving a detailed account of the methods of work, and future projects of the Coast Survey.

R. S. Bruce, of the Bureau of Standards, addressed the society on the research and methods of testing now in use in the automotive section of the bureau. Mr. Bruce predicts an era of development and efficiency in the automotive industry because of the introduction of scientific methods.

FRATERNITY MEN GUESTS AT CHURCH RECEPTION

Dr. Sze Speaks on Geneva Conference
At Church of Covenant
Social

Fraternity men in the University were the guests at a social given last Tuesday night by the Men's Club of the Church of the Covenant, through the courtesy of Dr. Charles Wood, Rector.

Dr. Alfred Sze, Minister from China, addressed the gathering on the Geneva Opium Conference, from which he has just returned. In a few words Dr. Sze told how the Chinese and American delegations had been forced to withdraw from the Conference when it became evident that no action would be taken curtailing the production of opium. "Countries that forbid the use of opium at home, sanction it in their Oriental colonies," said Dr. Sze, "thus establishing one code of morals for the West, and another for the East."

Dr. Sze said that he had offered the Conference three propositions; first, that a date be set after which no opium should be manufactured; second, that only enough be produced for medicinal purposes, or to maintain incurable addicts; and thirdly, if the above measures should not be taken, that the revenues obtained from opium traffic be devoted to welfare work among those addicts. The Conference rejected all three.

Dr. Sze was introduced by Robert Lansing, former Secretary of State. William Mather Lewis and Admiral McGowan, retired, each made short talks. The addresses were followed by a social hour, at which refreshments were served by ladies of the congregation.

G. W. DEBATERS WOULD CHANGE CURRICULUM

"Resolved, That there should be a fundamental change in the college curriculum," was the subject of discussion at the semi-monthly meeting of the George Washington Debaters, held Tuesday, March 17. Mazen upheld the affirmative, and Alderson championed the negative side of this debate.

The audience decided the question in favor of the affirmative, although Alderson was awarded first honors.

The next debate will be held Tuesday, March 31. The subject for discussion will be, "Resolved, That the United States is not fitted to administer tropical provinces."

COMPILE STATISTICS OF CO-ED GRADUATES

Figures Given Out By Dean Of Women Show G. W. Alumnae
In Many Activities

TEACHING ATTRACTS MOST

Legal, Literary And Scientific Fields
Also Available To Those Qualified

Some very interesting facts concerning the value of higher education to women have been brought out in a recent publication of statistics compiled in the office of the Dean of Women from questionnaires submitted to alumnae and former women students of the University during the building and endowment drive last year. It will be of interest to the many women students looking toward gainful occupations after graduation from college to see the lines of work engaged in by alumnae and former students of the University.

The statistics compiled show women engaged in many branches of work, of which the profession of teaching seems to predominate. Other fields include legal, secretarial and library work of various kinds.

Following are a few of the recent graduates and the occupations or professions which they are following. Those now engaged in teaching are: Carolyn Aiken, A. B., '22, Porto Rico; Sam Aiken, A. B., '22, Porto Rico; Maude Aiton, organizer of Americanization work in D. C.; A. Grace Alden, A. B., '12, kindergarten; Elizabeth Andrews, A. B., '23, practice teacher; Rosemary Arnold, A. B., '23, Eastern High School; Rebecca S. Ashley, A. M., '14, principal, private school for girls, Evanston, Ill.; Miriam Austin, principal, Wheatley School; Lillie Bailey, A. B., '21, McKinley High School; Marjorie Barnes, A. B., '16, Margaret Bayly, A. M., '16, Business High School; Katherine Bevard, A. M., '13, principal, Ross School; Fay Pierce Bell, A. B., '17, instructor, zoology, George Washington University; Ellen Boulden, A. B., '12, principal, Chester Springs High School, Virginia; Mary M. Box, A. B., '23, Bel Air, Md.; May Bradshaw, A. M., '13, Business High School; Marcia Bready, A. M., '16, Berkley Institute, New York; Mary C. Breen, B. S., '09, Wilson Normal; Elin Brewer, A. B., '15, Western High School; Gertrude Brigham, Ph. D., '16, Canton Christian College, China; Henryette Brumm, A. B., '20, Wilson Normal; Katherine Burden, M. S., '15, Macfarland Junior High School; Lillian Carpenter, A. B., '14, Peabody Junior High School; Bertha Chaney, A. M., '23, Grace Church, A. B., '13, Business High School; Alice Clark, A. M., '07, Central High School; Edith Clark, A. M., '14, principal, Gunston Hall; Edna Clark, M. S., '93, Central High School.

Marietta S. Albion is employed as an entertainer by the Washington Opera Co., radio broadcaster of children's stories.

Marcia Boynton, A. B., '24, and Agnes M. Brady, A. B., '10, are working as research assistants, one in the Civil Service Commission and the other in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Several are engaged in secretarial work, including Emily Alksne, who is secretary, Latvian Consulate, New York; Christie Allen; Ruth Bennett, A. M., '23; Mary A. Brown, A. B., '24, secretary, medical director of the Veterans' Bureau; Ellen Burke, A. B., '16; Lucy Burlingame, A. M., '23, secretary, American Legation, Budapest; Phoebe Burritt, A. M., '17, Y. W. C. A. secretary, Oakland, Calif.

Clara Bingham, LL. B., '23, and Clara J. Cain, LL. B., '23, are engaged in legal work for the Government, the former being located in the Prohibition Unit of the Treasury Department and Miss Cain in the Solicitor's Office of the Adjutant General's Office.

Among those engaged in legal work are: Edith L. M. Archer, LL. B., '21; Harriet Barbour, LL. B., '21; Mildred Callahan, LL. B., '23; Beatrice Clephane, LL. B., '24.

Several are employed in library work, including Lucy Y. Arrick, assistant chief, Division of Bibliography, Library of Congress; Gertrude Bergman, A. B., '22, Catalog Division, Library of Congress; Marian Brooks, A. B., '17, assistant cataloger, Library of Congress; Lilly Bullock, Bureau of Agriculture Economy; Lina Carnahan, A. B., '19, chief cataloger, U. S. Geological Survey Library; Edith Cheney, A. M., '15, cataloger, Federal Reserve Board Library.

Gladys A. Brannigan, A. M., '04, an artist, is located in New York City.

Edith R. Audas, LL. B., '23, and Emma Buechele are employed in the Patent Office as assistant examiners of trade-marks.

TO PROVIDE FACILITIES FOR ARCHITECT LIBRARY

Existing Library To Be Made Available With Improved Facilities Planned

Availability of an efficient architectural library for all George Washington students interested in design has been announced by Dean Hugh Miller, of the Engineering College. Such a library has existed for years at George Washington University, but the lack of proper facilities has made it impracticable to place it at the disposal of the student body.

The improvements made include the installation of a person in charge to whom application may be made for all books on design. The method of distribution is similar to that of the University Library.

The American Institute of Architects Library has placed a considerable number of volumes at the disposal of the G. W. students, and Professor Crandall has made arrangements with the Library of Congress for the loan every week of books and plates of architectural interest. Professor Bibb has used this method on a smaller scale for some time.

As well as instituting a library, the Department of Architects has endeavored to offer the greatest encouragement and facilities for students interested in these courses by the purchase of mountings for drawings to be exhibited at the conclusion of every problem. These exhibitions will be held in Building 9, Room 11.

DR. LEWIS ADDRESSES PHI BETA KAPPA MEETING

The Phi Beta Kappa Association of the District of Columbia was addressed at its annual meeting at the University Club last Tuesday night by President William Mather Lewis, of George Washington University. Representative R. Walton Moore, of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia, president of the association, introduced President Lewis. "Some Urban University Problems" was the theme of the address.

The Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity was organized at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., in 1776. There is no chapter of this honorary fraternity at George Washington University.
